If God can rest, there is no excuse that we cannot take 24 hours off to rest... to rest with God.

Like Christmas, Easter is not simply a day but a season

Lasting fifty days, the season of Easter, also known as Eastertide, is a time for celebrating new life.

We inhabit the hours leading up to Easter with patience, awareness, and anticipation, keeping vigil as we wait for the appearance of the risen Christ. In the final leg of our communal journey along the path of the passion of Christ that began during Holy week, we recount the stories that led to the coming of Christ and progress toward the moment in which we can finally declare, "He is Risen!"

This is the proclamation of Easter and the manifesto of the season to come. Just as we were invited during Holy Week to enter into darkness and contemplate how we have in our own ways crucified Christ, we now are invited to live in the resurrection as we celebrate the risen Christ and honor the things that bring us new life, both big and small.

For fifty days, we are called to view all of life through the lens of a Sunday feast, dwelling in the abundance of the kingdom of God as we name and celebrate our places of resurrection. These places of life serve as guideposts for the journey, for they are where we continue to encounter Christ—the way, the truth, and the life, and the pathway to the Divine—on our journey of awakening.

The invitation of Eastertide, then, is to look for these guideposts in everyday life and lean into them as we seek to live out and celebrate the kingdom of God and the renewal that it brings.

Food Cupboard

With your support of our Food Cupboard, you are not only feeding people in need, but you are also sharing with them the gifts of LOVE and HOPE. For many, standing in line at our Food Cupboard is the last place in the world they ever thought they'd be. It is very heartwarming to see how appreciative our clients are when they receive these gifts.

If you are able to donate food, we are currently in need of canned fish and meat, peanut butter, and toilet paper. Always welcome are pasta sauces, hearty soups and various ready-made meals.
